The vice minister of finance, Eyda Varela de Chinchilla, formed part of the official party that accompanied the president of the Republic, Juan Carlos Varela Rodríguez, to pay tribute to the founding fathers of independence in commemoration of the day of the Dead.

In the cemetery Amador, President Juan Carlos Varela Rodríguez placed a wreath at the tomb of who was the first President of the Republic, Dr. Manuel Amador Guerrero, and the delegation then went to the mausoleum of the soldiers of the independence to pay tribute to the founding fathers, who made a reality the independence movement.

The event was accompanied with the solemn notes of the Republican Band and had the presence of ministers of State, deputy ministers and directors of public and autonomous entities.